2011 North Carolina FFA State Convention

Members in blue jackets and FFA supporters took over Raleigh when almost 3,000 people attended the 2011 North Carolina FFA State Convention. This year's convention was held June 21st through June 23rd at the Raleigh Convention Center. Students competed in numerous career development events, were recognized for their achievements, enjoyed inspiring speeches and even enjoyed music at the block party. Teachers, alumni and supporters attended convention sessions, the annual Alumni State Meeting, participated in the Alumni silent auction, and networked.

Each year the alumni sponsors the State Convention Keynote Speaker to help kick off the beginning of convention. This year's speaker was Mr. Brandon Lee White. Brandon was a hit and all of the students were engaged and enjoyed his message. He even brought a few FFA member volunteers onto the stage to participate in activities.

Wednesday, June 22nd was a day filled with career development events. Hundreds of FFA members strived to give their best as they competed in 17 CDEs. During the day the NC FFA Alumni held their annual meeting at the convention center where they recognized outstanding alumni affiliates and heard words from retired Admiral Benny Suggs, the Executive Director of NCSU Alumni Association. That evening, during the fourth general session, the two lifetime achievement award winners, Mr. Marvin Rountree and Mr. David Harris, were recognized. Also recognized were those individuals who received their Honorary State FFA Degree. After the session, the FFA took over downtown at the music block party where everyone enjoyed sounds from Southbound 85.

The last day of the North Carolina FFA State Convention ended on Thursday, June 23rd. Students were recognized for their achievements and top scores from the previous day and as the end of convention approached, members enjoyed the FFA year in review. Finally, as the 2010-2011 State FFA Officers retired, FFA members welcomed the new 2011-2012 State FFA Officer Team. The 2011 North Carolina State FFA Convention came to an exciting end and now students are preparing for the National FFA Convention and the next 2012 North Carolina FFA State Convention.

South Granville FFA Alumni in the Spotlight!

The South Granville FFA Alumni has been working hard on fundraising to create an endowment fund. This endowment will be used to make the Phil Grady Scholarship a permanent resource for students. We are getting closer to our goal of making the dream of the late Phil Grady a lasting reality. Mr. Phil Grady served Granville County Schools for over thirty years and continued to help South Granville FFA after he retired. He was trying to get an alumni started when God called him home. In August, we hold an annual Pancake Supper to support the scholarship each year. We look forward to seeing this scholarship fund support future FFA members at South Granville.

Midway FFA Chapter benefits from a
2011 Alumni Chapter Grant

On July 4, 2011, the Midway FFA Chapter headed to the North Carolina FFA Center at White Lake to attend the State Leadership Conference. On the third day of camp, three eagerly anticipated guests arrived to join the group from Spivey's Corner. Anne Krueger, Emily Selner, and Eric Kraynik from the Denmark FFA Chapter in Denmark, Wisconsin had arrived in North Carolina to learn about the state's agricultural commodities as a part of the Gold Emblem Exchange Program in which their chapter participates annually. These three students were respectively partnered with Michaela Slatniske, Caroline Clement, and Brandon Honeycutt, three senior FFA members from Midway, who would serve as their host families.

Upon arriving at White Lake, the three Denmark FFA members were instantly engaged in the ongoing camp activities. They participated in various workshops to develop teamwork and communication while also meeting NC FFA members from across the state. When camp ended, the six students involved in the exchange program traveled to Topsail Island, NC, to spend the weekend at the beach. While this was a routine summer experience for the locals, it was the first time the students from Wisconsin had ever seen the ocean. Without hesitation the three Wisconsinites began to collect seashells and wade out into the water farther than even the North Carolina students would have dared.

After a weekend of surf and sunburn, the FFA members began a week of agricultural tours in Southeast North Carolina. The members from Wisconsin learned about the cotton industry by touring Nate Honeycutt's farm, the Corner Cotton Gin, and Wesley Barefoot's Carolina Picker Repair Services. The students also learned about tobacco production by visiting Fann Farms, turf grass management from Tri-State Turf, hatching chickens from Case Farms in Goldsboro, and were able to compare the differences in dairying practices after a visit to Koopman's Dairy. The students also toured Martin Meats and the Mt. Olive Pickle factory to get an in depth understanding of local agricultural businesses.

Ten days in the NC heat and humidity did its damage on the cool-natured Wisconsin students. Looking forward to more favorable temperature, the six FFA members boarded a plane at RDU. With a connecting flight in Minneapolis, the group headed towards Green Bay. After missing their second flight due to weather conditions, the students finally made it to the Badger State eight hours later than expected.

While in Wisconsin, the NC students became very familiar with the dairy industry. Each student's host family owned a small dairy operation where they worked for the ten days they were in the state. The NC FFA members were able to participate in milking, feeding, and even helping with the birth of a few calves! Additionally, the students visited an alpaca farm, a twenty-two acre greenhouse, and a Land O'Lakes cheese factory. The FFA members also visited Lambeau Field, Miller Park, and the Harley-Davidson Museum while in Wisconsin.

Without the assistance of the North Carolina FFA Alumni Association, this opportunity would have never been possible. The grant given to the Midway FFA Chapter by the Alumni alleviated much of the traveling expenses the agricultural students had while in North Carolina. The Gold Emblem Exchange allowed FFA members to engage themselves in a variety of new experience while exploring the diversity of American agriculture.
